- If you request that we share your information with other RSLs under Housing Options who may assist in re-housing you;
- Unless required to do so by law, we will not otherwise share, sell or distribute any of the information you provide to us without your consent

Lawful Processing

Data protection law requires us to rely on one or more lawful grounds to process your personal information. We may process your personal data under the following lawful basis:

Performance of a contract

Where we are entering into a contract with you or performing our obligations under it, such as your tenancy or factoring contract.

Performance of a task in the public interest

Where we are processing your personal data regarding:

- (a) the prevention and alleviation of homelessness,
- (b) and the management of housing accommodation, where we have granted a Scottish Secure Tenancy.

Legal obligation

Where necessary so that we can comply with a legal or regulatory obligation to which we are subject, for example where we are ordered by a court or regulatory authority like HMRC.

Legitimate interests

Where it is reasonably necessary to achieve our or others' legitimate interests (as long as what the information is used for is fair and does not duly impact your rights).

We consider our legitimate interests to be for running Cloch Housing Association. For example to:

- run our business, for example, processing financial transactions for payment of our suppliers and to invoice our contractors;
- recruit staff;
- protect our staff and customers and assist with the prevention and detection of crime;
- monitor who we deal with to protect the Association against fraud, money laundering and other risks;
- enhance, modify, personalise or otherwise improve our services /communications for the benefit of our customers; and
- better understand how people interact with our website.

When we legitimately process your personal information in this way, we consider and balance any potential impact on you (both positive and negative), and your rights under data protection laws. We will not use your personal information where our interests are overridden by the impact on you, for example, where use would be excessively intrusive (unless, for instance, we are otherwise required or permitted to by law).

When we use sensitive personal information such as your health or ethnicity, we require an additional legal basis to do so under data protection laws, so will either do so on the basis of your explicit consent or another route available to us at law (for example, if we need to process it for employment, social security or social protection purposes, your vital interests, or, in some cases, if it is in the public interest for us to do so).

Your Rights

Under UK data protection law, you have certain rights over the personal information that we hold about you.

Right of access

You have a right to request access to the personal data that we hold about you and to request a copy of it, and we will provide you with this unless legal exceptions apply. If you want to access your information, please send a description of the information you would like to see to the contact details above. We may ask for proof of your identity before proceeding with your request.

Right to have your inaccurate personal information corrected

You have the right to have inaccurate or incomplete information we hold about you corrected.

Right to restrict use

You have a right to ask us to restrict the processing of some or all of your personal information if there is a disagreement about its accuracy, or we're not lawfully allowed to use it.

Right of erasure

You may ask us to delete some or all of your personal information and in certain cases, and subject to certain exceptions; we will do so as far as we are required to.

Right for your personal information to be portable

If we are processing your personal information (1) based on your consent, or in order to enter into or carry out a contract with you, and (2) the processing is being done by automated means, for example, via you completing a form on our website, you may ask us to provide it to you or to another service provider in a machine-readable format.

Right to object

You have the right to object to processing where we are using your personal information (1) based on legitimate interests, (2) for direct marketing or (3) for statistical/research purposes.

If you want to exercise any of the above rights, please contact our Data Protection Lead at the details above. We may be required to ask for further information and/or evidence of identity. We will endeavour to respond fully to all requests within one month of receipt of your request, however if we are unable to do so we will contact you with reasons for the delay.

Please note that exceptions apply to a number of these rights, and not all rights will be applicable in all circumstances. For more details we recommend you consult the guidance published by the UK's Information Commissioner's Office.

How long is your information kept for?

We review our data retention periods regularly and will only hold your personal data for as long as is necessary for the relevant activity, or as required by law (we may be legally required to hold some types of information), or as set out in any relevant contract we have with you. Our full retention schedule is available by contacting our Data Protection Lead Officer, the Depute CEO. Contact details on Page 2.

We review our retention periods on a regular basis.

Keeping your information safe

When you give us information we take steps to make sure that your personal information is kept secure and safe. Our computer systems and network storage systems are all password protected, they are managed and monitored by specialist security software. Internal security permissions are used to manage access to files so only the relevant staff required to use the data have access to it. We also have the ability to use mobile devices such as laptops and tablets. These devices are also managed centrally and have the relevant methods of security installed

Keeping your information up to date

We take reasonable steps to ensure your information is accurate and up to date; however please help us keep our records updated by informing us of any changes to your email address and other contact details.
