REPORT FROM THE CHAIR

2023/24 has been a productive and positive year, although not without challenges, impacted by high inflation and the rise in cost of living.

In taking on the challenges, Cloch focussed on activities that would help support customers and were successful in securing £206,000 of additional funding, used to provide items such as food and fuel vouchers, home start up packs and warm / energy saving items. We also expanded our Community Support Team, through grant funding, with three members of staff dedicated to providing health and wellbeing support to those in need, with 10% of our customers benefiting from this service. Our partners at Financial Fitness provided money advice services and we were pleased that this helped over two hundred customers gain additional income, totalling over £234,000.

A strategic priority for Cloch is to invest in and increase the number of properties we have by buying from the local housing market. This year we purchased eight properties, supported by Scottish Government funding, increasing the number of homes to 1,479. We have also continued to invest in our properties and over the next two years have planned for an enhanced maintenance programme based on £3.75 million of investment. The investment is being supported by a treasury management strategy based on a revolving credit facility, which has enabled us to keep our loan funding costs to a minimum over a period of high interest rates.

During the year, we also completed a project to reduce financial risk, with a working group of Board and Staff members established to implement a change to the pension offering, with all staff now on a defined contribution scheme, reducing future risk for the Association.

Cloch strives to be the best organisation we can be and this year we focussed on improving customer insight with various engagement events delivered throughout the year by our Customer

Involvement Team, in addition to commissioning an independent tenant survey. We use this information to ensure we stay in tune with what is important to our customers, and we were delighted with the results which saw high levels of satisfaction with value for money, our housing services, management of the neighbourhoods, keeping customers informed about services and opportunities to participate. We also saw improvements in satisfaction levels with our repairs service and are confident that this will improve further based on our new approach to working with smaller, local contractors. This new approach also resulted in eight new trade apprenticeships being created for young people in Inverclyde.

In addition to the positive customer feedback, we saw improved results in our operating performance with better results across 75% of our indicators compared to last year and by using independent benchmarking information we know we are a high performing Housing Association locally and amongst our peers within the sector.

All of this is down to our incredible Staff Team and Board Members, who are passionate about making a real difference to families and individuals living in our homes. A recent staff structure refresh empowered staff to provide invaluable input into our key resourcing decisions. With a focus on developing our people, a third of our staff now have enhanced career paths within the Association.

I would like to thank our Staff and Board Member colleagues for their continued enthusiasm to provide excellent services for the people of Inverclyde.

HOW WE SHOW OUR PERFORMANCE INFORMATION

The traffic light system is a simple and effective method for presenting data results, particularly in performance and reporting. It uses the colours red, amber, and green to represent different levels of performance or status, allowing you to quickly assess key areas at a glance.

Green

shows improving performance or better than the Scottish average.

Amber

shows stable performance or better than the Scottish average.

Red

shows performance where we need to improve on.

This visual approach simplifies complex data, making it easier to communicate.

Due to the timing of the Scottish Housing Regulator releasing ARC data for 2023/24, we have used equivalent Scottish Housing Network data as our 'Scottish average' for the following subject headings: neighbourhood; quality and maintenance of homes; and complaints.

KEY PERFORMANCE INDICATORS (KPI'S)

CUSTOMER SATISFACTION

At Cloch we are committed to continuous improvement and providing our customers with the best possible service we can. Our most recent customer satisfaction survey showed high levels of satisfaction. We understand that a fundamental part in achieving these results and continuing to improve, requires involving our tenants and other stakeholders in the Association's decision making process. We therefore provide our customers with opportunities to be involved at a level they are comfortable with. This could be taking part in a survey, becoming a member of our tenant-lead Customer Advisory Panel or even joining the Cloch Board!

At the heart of this relationship is a clear communication process. This enables us to understand what is important to you and operate accordingly. We're delighted to have improved upon all areas of customer satisfaction when compared with previous years.

KEY PERFORMANCE INDICATORS (KPI'S)

VALUE FOR MONEY

As a social landlord and non-profit organisation, we rely on tenants paying their rent to keep the Association running. The rental income we receive is what allows us to carry out repairs, make planned improvements to homes and increase our property numbers, for future generations. While we understand many people face financial challenges – no least of all in recent years due to the 'cost of living' crisis – we still need our customers to pay their rent. We therefore review our rent costs on a yearly basis. In doing this we consult with our customers, aiming to strike a balance between the level of services provided, the cost of the services and how far tenants can afford the cost. Providing value for money, good quality homes and an excellent service, in a way which ensures our rents are affordable, equitable, transparent and consistent, is a key priority at Cloch.

In addition, Cloch's priority is to provide individuals and families with quality homes, and when our properties are empty, we do not receive any income for these. We therefore try to ensure our properties do not stay empty for long. Also, there is a high demand for our homes and fortunately we do not have many empty properties at any time. When allocating our properties we do so on the basis of 'housing need'. We ensure everyone who applies is treated fairly and has an equal right to apply for housing. This helps us to create stable and sustainable communities, where our tenants can enjoy their homes.

NEIGHBOURHOOD

Anti social behaviour and nuisance neighbours can be challenging for local tenants and residents. The number of anti social behaviour cases can vary from one year to the next and when looking at the figures it's important to remember that one tenant can be complained about several times.

Where we do get such complaints, we try to respond and resolve cases as quickly as possible.

Fortunately, very serious anti social behaviour is rare, and where criminal activity is reported we pass it to the Police for them to deal with.

QUALITY AND MAINTENANCE OF HOMES

In August 2023 we changed how we delivered our day-to-day reactive repairs service from a single multi trade contractor to where we now have 6 contractors who provide the core trade repairs such as joinery, electrical and plumbing. It is pleasing to see that these contractors are performing better against the 2022/23 results.

Performance on tenant safety and compliance relating to gas safety is also a legislative duty placed on Cloch as your landlord and for 2023/24 we were 100% compliant on this performance indicator.

There has been little change in the percentage of stock meeting Scottish Quality Housing Standards which for the most part relates to the fact that works on meeting the future energy efficiency targets have not been progressed whilst we await the announcement of the Scottish Net Zero Standards.

COMPLAINTS

At times, we may not always get things right, however your feedback is important to us. Complaints provide us with the opportunity to understand when something has gone wrong. By bringing any issues to our attention, we can work towards resolving them and making things right. Your feedback helps us to improve the services we offer our customers, both now and in the long term.

- Be Responsible for yourself, your customers, and your community.

Our strategic objectives:

1. To maximise the potential of our assets.
2. To offer our customers the best opportunity to succeed.

We are a growing organisation, providing quality homes, delivering excellent services, and supporting our local communities, and are committed to continuous improvement and providing more affordable homes to meet local housing needs.

Cloch are proud of our local roots and historic achievements, but we are also committed to addressing the opportunities and challenges ahead. These include the changing needs and expectations of our customers, improving our homes and energy efficiency, and addressing a shortage of affordable homes locally. We are excited about the possibilities and potential for the future and are determined to continue making an impact in Inverclyde.

We want our neighbourhoods to retain a firm sense of identity and community, so we understand that what we do is about more than bricks and mortar. We retain a clear customer and community focus, as well as a commitment to collaboration and involvement in wider activities beyond our core landlord role. We look to engage within the communities that we serve and deliver positive outcomes by working in partnership with a range of other organisations and of course you, our customers.

Fit for The Future

Our business plan sets our strategic objectives for the future and our Board members have recently been reviewing our plan to ensure we are on the right track. During 2024, we will continue to review how we do things and will continue to consult with our tenants and residents so we can understand and meet changing needs and expectations.

We know from recent customer feedback, that there are a variety of areas that are significant. Taking this feedback into account, our priorities for the coming year are as follows:

- A commitment to improve the quality of our homes through our enhanced planned maintenance programme with a £3.75m allocation in the next 2 years.
- Enhancing the Association's support services by further developing our Community Support Team, while offering assistance and advice via our support partners.
- Increasing our engagement by introducing several initiatives designed to give our customers a voice in how the Association shapes services. These include the development of a Customer Advisory Panel (CAP), and ongoing tenant focused activities, facilitated by our Customer Involvement Team (CIT).
